CARDINAL HAYES
HIGH SCHOOL

NEW YORK, NEW YORK

Dedication

IN many quarters there are misgivings about the future of the young men leaving the "sheltered academic life" of high school for the maelstrom that is today's world. These are not groundless fears, yet we feel that the graduates of our Catholic schools, and particularly those of Hayes, have a special spiritual protection to safeguard them in the trials which lie ahead.

Archbishop Francis J. Spellman is the founder and patron of Cardinal Hayes High School; no one more richly deserves our affection and loyalty. And when we bid farewell to Hayes, ready and eager to spend ourselves in the active service of our country, we shall enjoy his spiritual guidance even more intimately, for Archbishop Spellman, as Military Vicar of the Armed Forces of the United States, will continue to inspire us to work and to fight and to live according to the motto he chose for our school, "For God and Country."

Since, therefore, the guidance and support of our Archbishop will play such an important part in the lives of all our students, it is appropriate that we dedicate this record of our life and activities at Cardinal Hayes to His Excellency, our father, our friend, our future chaplain.

The Most Reverend
FRANCIS J. SPELLMAN
Archbishop of New York

For God and Country

FATHER WARD

FATHER WALSH

FATHER GALLAGHER

CARDINAL HAYES High School began its noble mission in the shadow of a war declared just three months after the impressive building accepted its first students. The graduating class of 1942 went out bravely to face the chaotic conditions that invariably prevail following the declaration of war by a country unprepared. At the time of our second graduation, things were somewhat less confused—the United States had, as it were, got into stride. Now, when the full power of a mighty nation is at last concentrated on the attainment of final victory, another class of graduates will soon become an integral part of this tremendous drive.

Hayes has given all her graduates and undergraduates the finest sort of training for the work so many of them are already engaged in—service in the armed forces of their country. They have been prepared spiritually: the religion classes, the various spiritual activities supported and encouraged, and—most important, at least from the military point of view—the insistence upon the virtue of obedience—all these form the foundation for the excellent mental and physical skills that have likewise been emphasized. In the classrooms, on the corridors, in the gymnasium, and, for the Civil Air Patrol Cadets, on the drill ground, every possible effort has been made to develop mental alertness and physical soundness.

In short, the high school has been fully dedicated to the task of producing young men who can best serve their country.

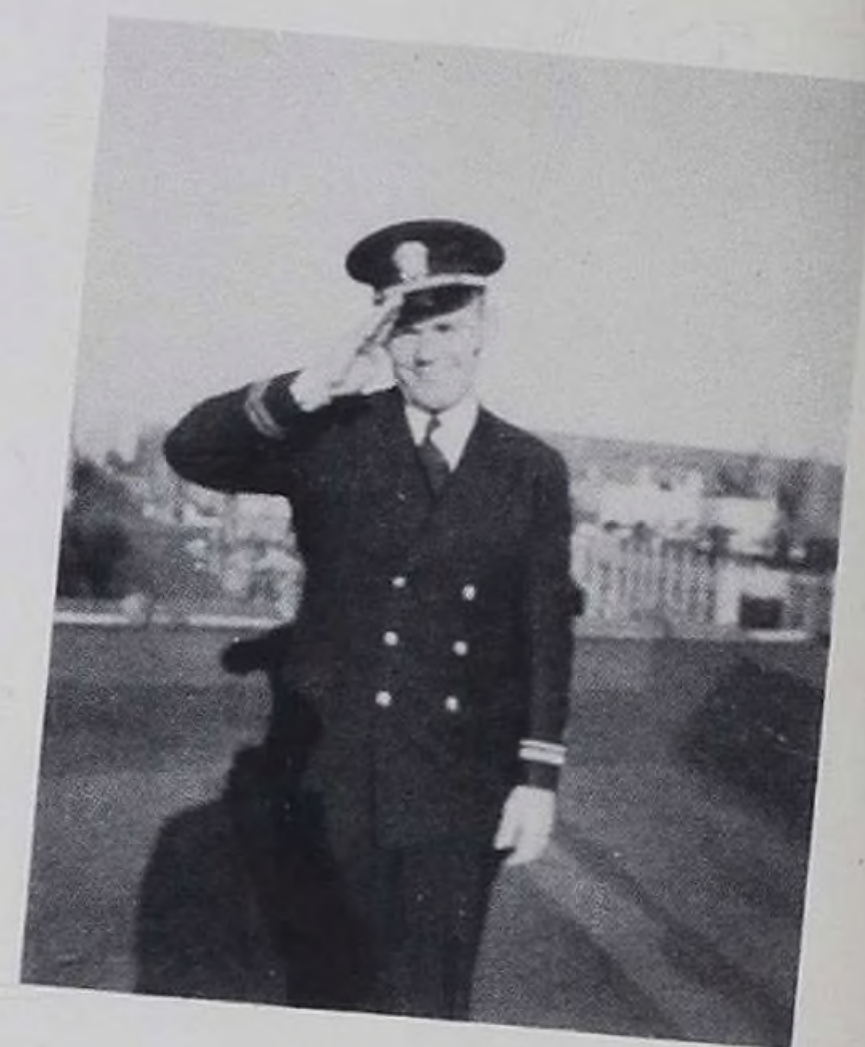

In the pages that follow, we have listed names of the Hayes men in service. There may be omissions—mistakes are inevitable when records are constantly changing. Also we have featured, to a certain extent, our faculty members and our first officers among the students and our first wounded. But whether their pictures appear on the first page or on the last page or on no page at all, we want "the fellows" to know that we are equally proud of them all, and of the way in which they are bringing honor to the school by their fine example of service "for God and Country."

PETE RUTLEDGE

As we go to press, good news reaches us from some of our more famous boys overseas. Tom Zudick, first Hayes man to win the Purple Heart, so far as we know, is back in the fight sounder than ever. Pete Rutledge, shot down over Germany, was later reported a prisoner of war. Hank Briarton has finished his twentieth mission safely and awarded an oak leaf cluster to go with that Flying Cross he so richly deserved.

In Memoriam

MR. JOHN MEHLING

IT is with deep and sincere sorrow that we dedicate this page to the memory of a deceased teacher and friend. Although he served on the faculty of Cardinal Hayes High School for less than one year, Mr. Mehling had gained the respect and love of all his students, who, with the members of the faculty, will never forget him in their prayers. May Almighty God grant eternal rest to his good and noble soul.

Meet the Seniors — and a Few Others

Let's dance, chillun.

It's fun, but is it hygienic?

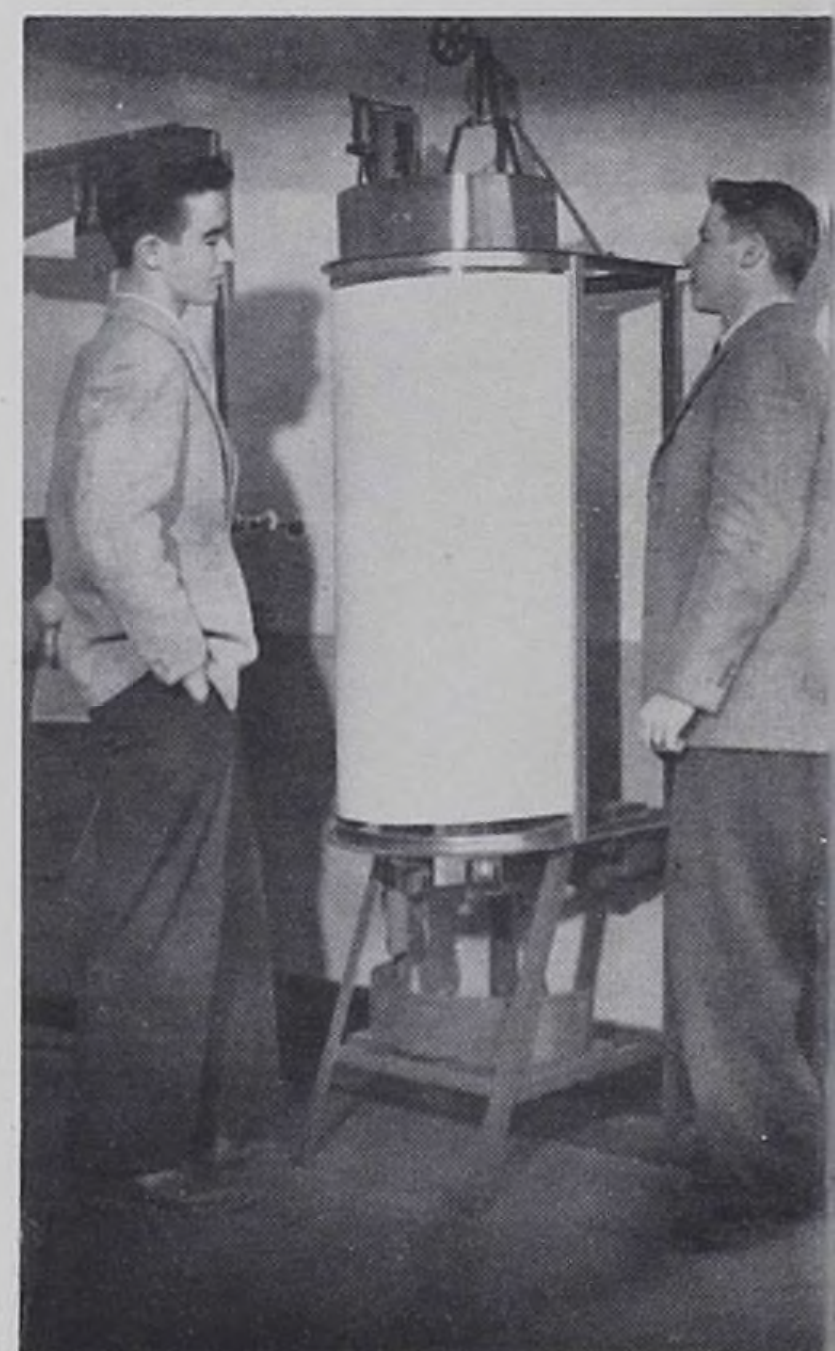

Stardust

Simple, if you know how.

It is the usual thing in yearbooks of this kind to spend a great deal of space in what are known as "Senior writeups," to accompany the informal pictures that have been taken during the year. We have done this ourselves in the first issue of the CALENDAR, but a number of rather solid reasons militates against our repeating the practice in this volume. In the first place, there are some five hundred Seniors to be considered. After a fairly exhaustive study of the various questionnaires that were filled in, we find that the similarity in likes and dislikes, favorite orchestras and singers, hobbies, nicknames and ambitions is so great as to make such a section mere boring repetition. This lack of originality is due, we know, to the war and to the fact that immediate ambition, looming largest on the graduate's horizon, must be confined to the Army, the Navy, the Marines, and the Coast Guard in one or the other of their different aspects, with the Air Forces most popular. If you are interested in the actual division, the Army and Navy Air Forces appeal to about half of our graduates more or less equally, while the other half chooses the Navy, the Army Infantry, the Paratroopers, and the Merchant Marine, in the order named.

We roll our own

In the world of entertainment, Bing Crosby is the overwhelming favorite; Harry James follows him rather closely, with Helen O'Connell an easy third. Tommy Dorsey, Dinah Shore, Glenn Miller, Charlie Barnet, Ginny Simms, and Kay Kyser are all in there struggling for a fourth or fifth place, while Frank Sinatra rates a very decisive last.

Mannie's gets a fair plurality of the votes for hangouts, with neighborhood ice cream parlors, bowling alleys, and community centers mentioned next in exact proportion to the student population of the different localities.

The majority of Hayes men who express a preference for a definite profession after the war are in favor of some form of engineering; a few intend to make the armed forces their life's career, and the rest are pretty evenly divided among the medical and legal professions. There are a few who would like teaching, and one individual who looks forward to farming. Those who might have chosen the business world in other times are now intent mostly on commercial aviation.

Finally, regarding favorite sports, it invariably happens that the graduate is most interested in the form of athletics in which he took a part, especially if he took a prominent part, during his high school course. Therefore it is necessary only to refer back to the account of the senior's activities that appears underneath his formal picture.

This similarity is due, as we have noted, to the war. The war is also responsible for a very critical paper shortage, a shortage which can yet impede our drive to victory in a very serious fashion. Were it not for this crisis, we of the CALENDAR staff might be tempted to include all this matter, however repetitious, if only to round out the section. As it is, we feel confident that the Seniors themselves would be the first to protest against such waste.

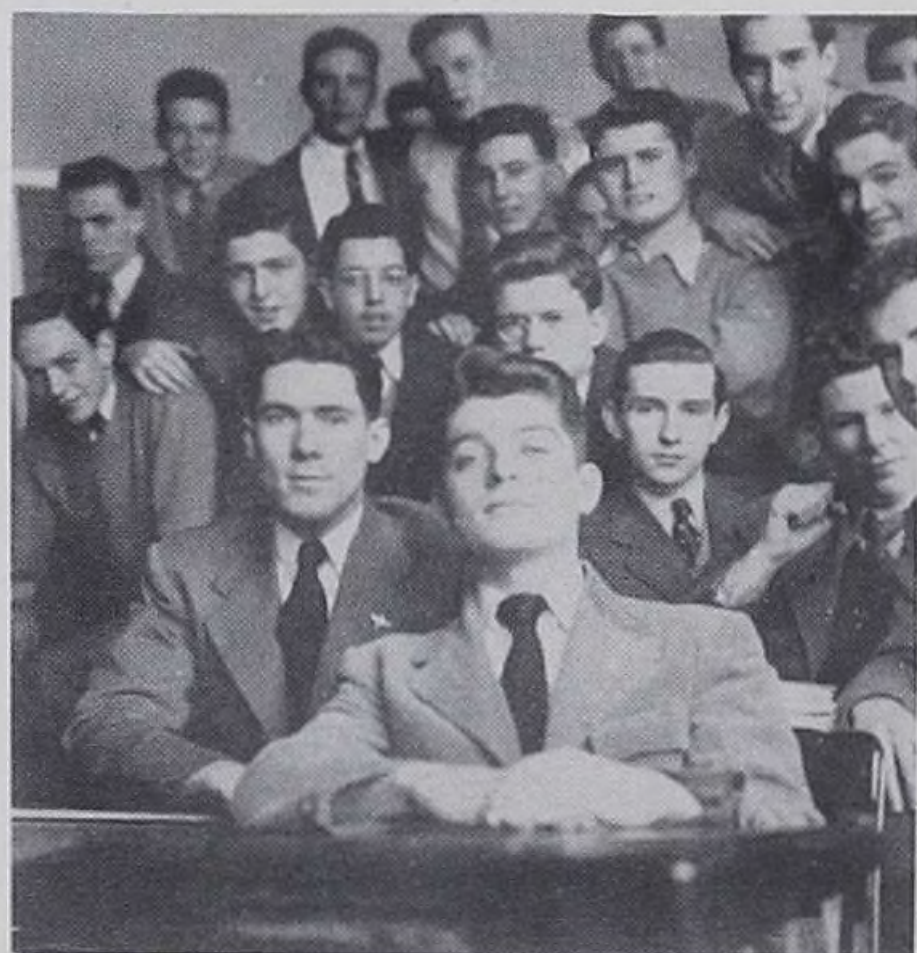

Uncle Sam wants you!

Nothing like real culture.

Ambition should be made of sterner stuff.

Ambition really should be.

Gimme one wid pitchers.

Activities

HAYES ACTIVITIES

IN a school the size of Hayes, with its many facilities and advantages, there must necessarily exist an almost infinite variety of activities. Every activity attracts its quota of interested students; all of them together are in great part responsible for the general good spirit of the school. Some are very necessary, the Student Council and the religious societies, for example; others are outstanding, like The Challenger and The Patricians; all of them are extremely important.

All of which introduction is meant merely to explain why we have given more space to some activities than to others. No comparison is intended; it just so happened that we had more pictures of some than of others.

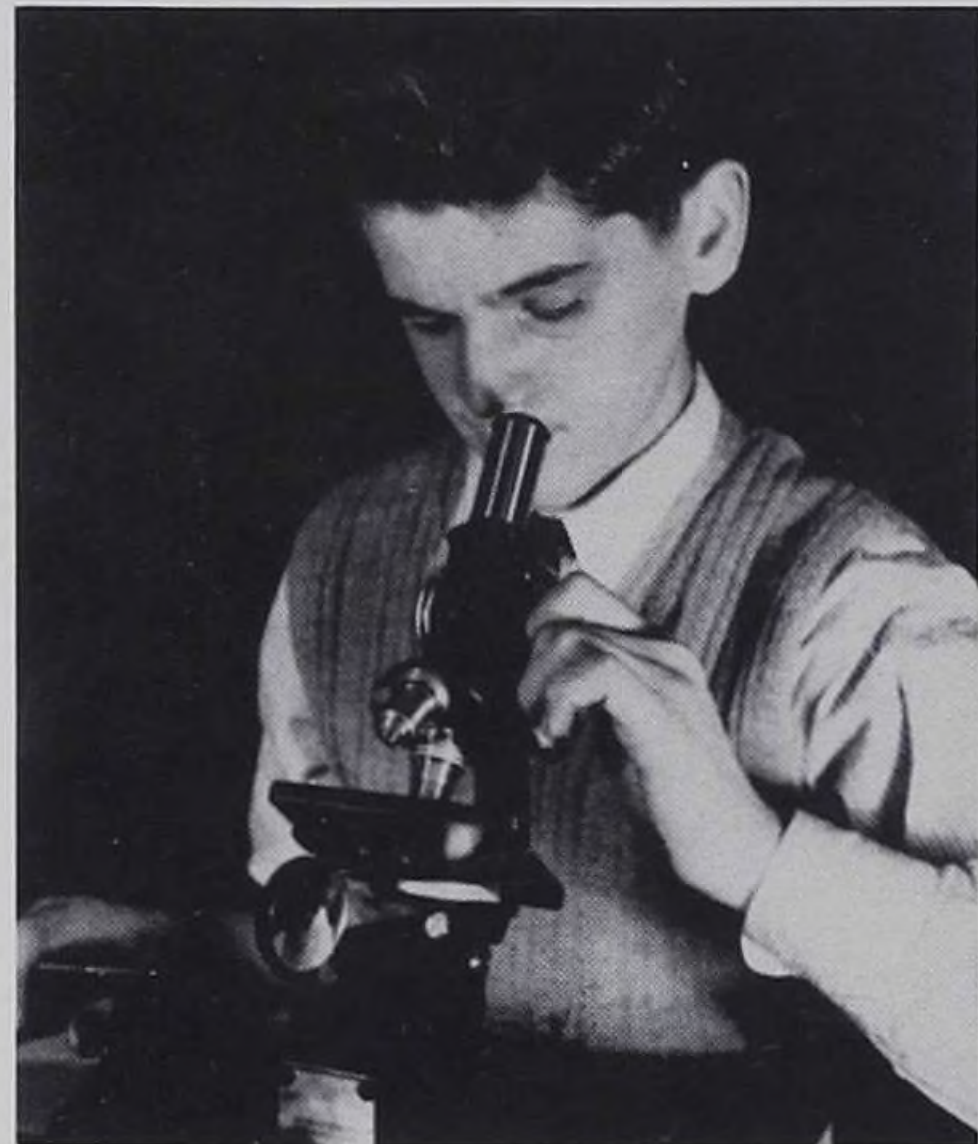

You push the middle valve down.

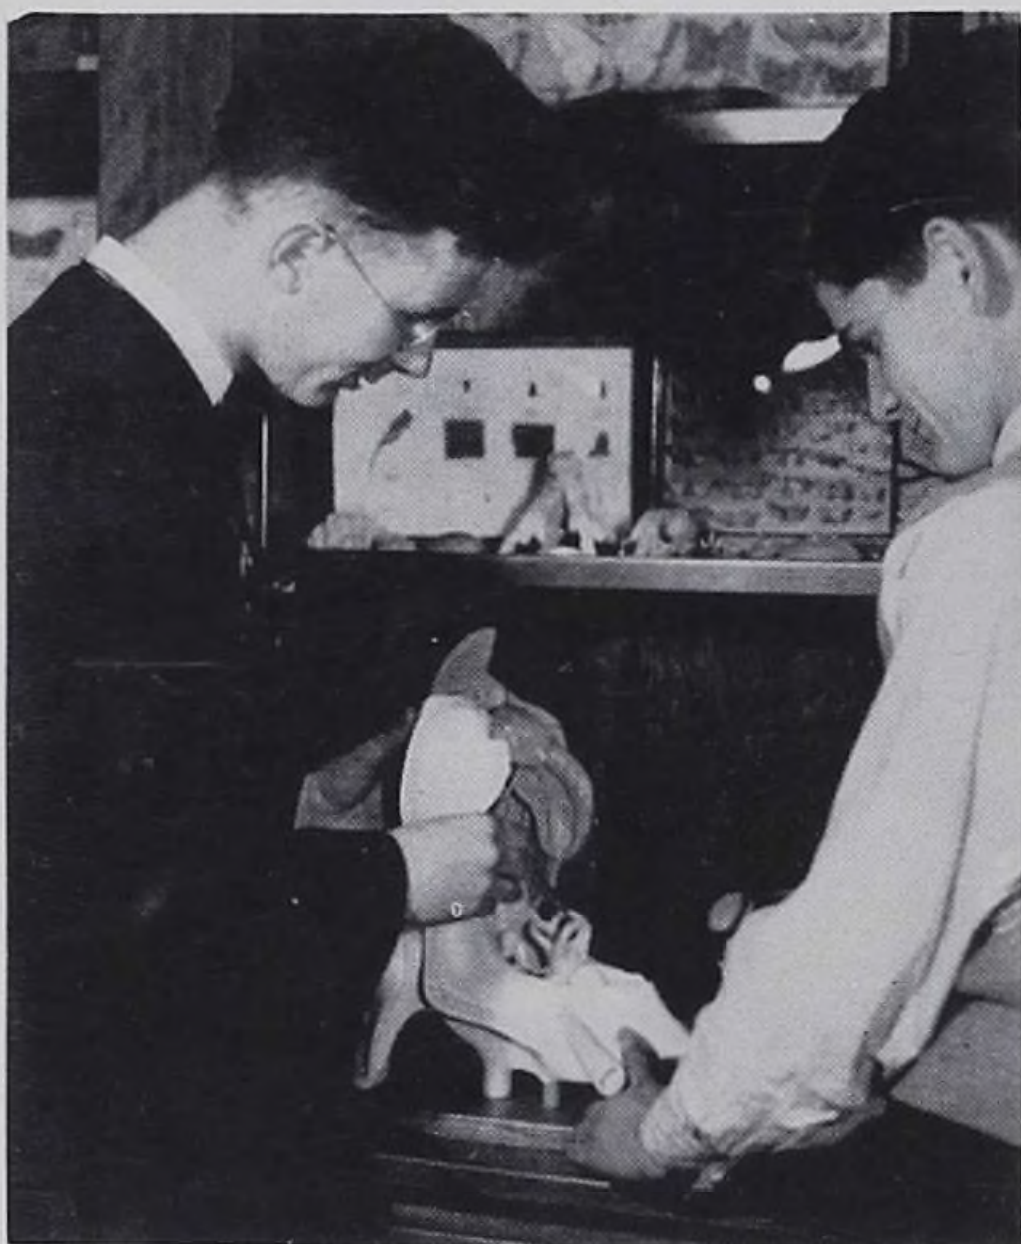

BIOLOGY

THE newly formed Biology Club, under the guidance of Brother Terence, has made remarkable progress during the past year. It is composed mostly of members of second year who take an active interest in biology. Meetings are held every Thursday for these microscope fans, whose intense interest guarantees the future success of this club.

George Fischer is president of the Biology Club; John Christian is vice-president.

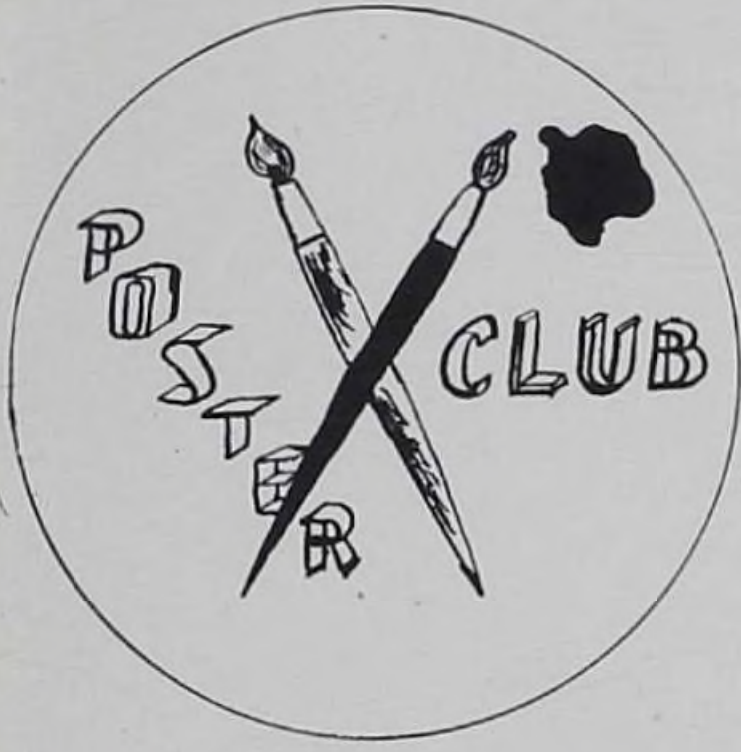

No, no! You LOOK through it!

Amoeba, meet Paramoecium. Likewise, I'm sure.

Brother Terence demonstrates.

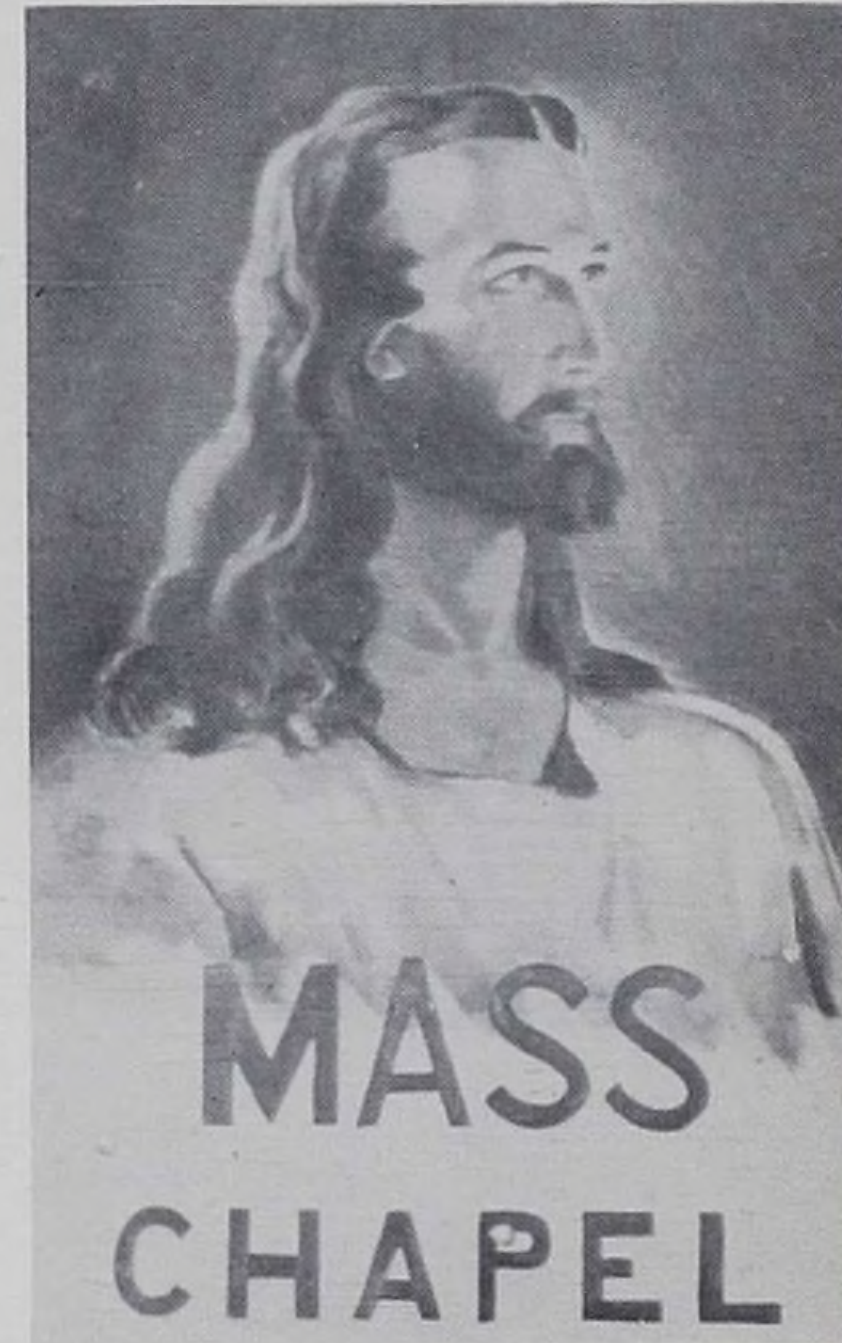

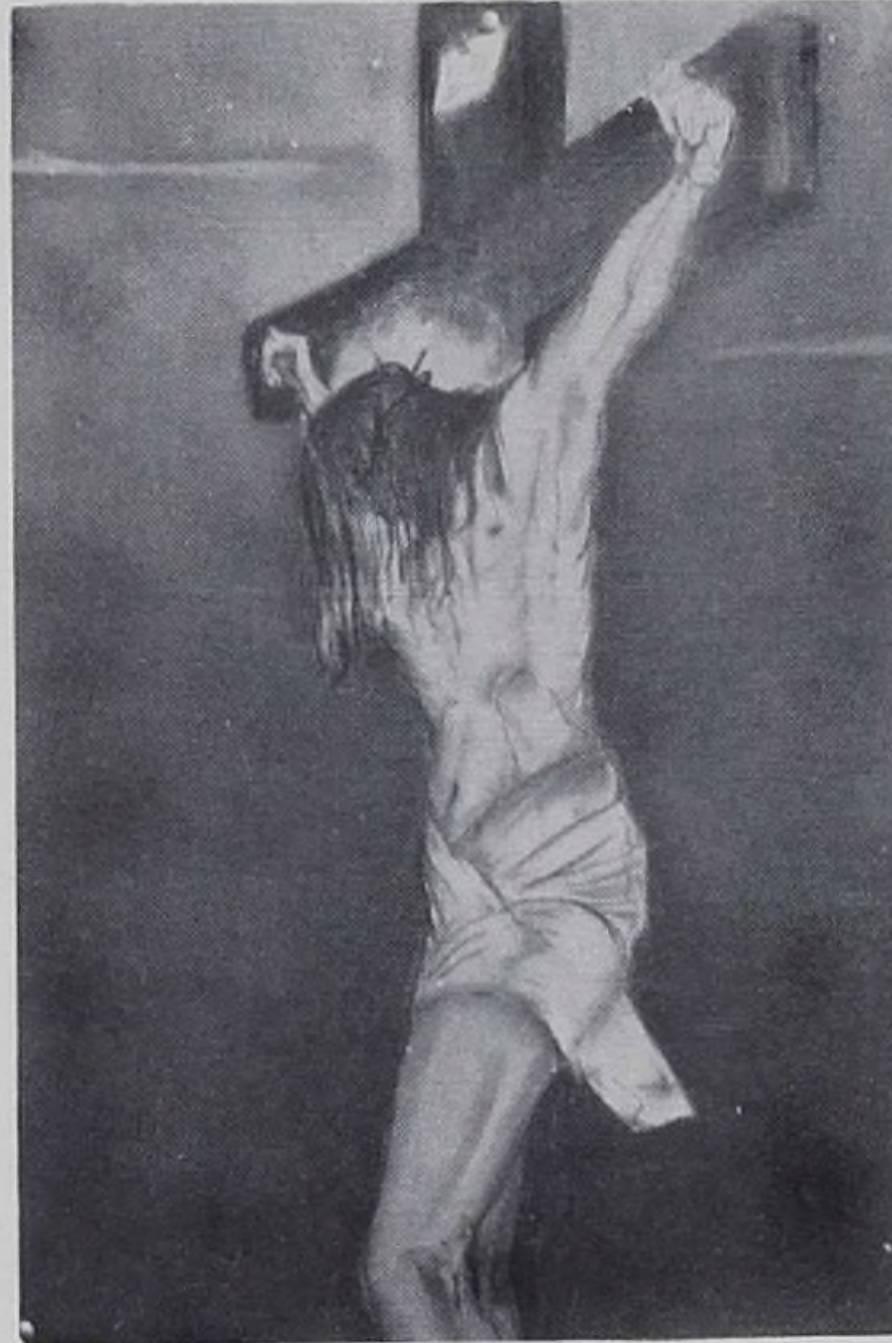

POSTER CLUB

HIGH on the list of activities that serve not only their own special interests but also contribute to the success of many others, must be placed the Poster Club. It takes a great deal of effective advertising to keep the student body informed about all the functions that need their support, and the Poster Club has done a magnificent job this year in bringing to their attention and "building up" the games, plays, dances, etc., which comprised so much of life at Hayes. Indeed, Father Loughman and his capable staff have sometimes seemed to have worked miracles by producing posters "out of thin air" on incredibly short notice. Nor has the quality of their productions ever fallen short of their own very strict standards; they have at all times been comparable to the work of highly paid commercial artists. We reproduce only a couple of them here, with the promise that next year's CALENDAR will feature a great many more.

CHEERLEADERS

"COME ON, HAYES! LET'S GO!" And Hays really did "go" under the enthusiastic leadership of its cheerleaders. Who will ever forget Casey's wild cavorting, or Terry McGrath's swing cheer, or the appealing capers of our newly acquired mascot? These succeeded in urging the fans to shout at an ever increasing pitch; they made the athletic season more picturesque and exciting; and they were responsible in no small measure for many triumphs in football and basketball this year.

BUSINESS

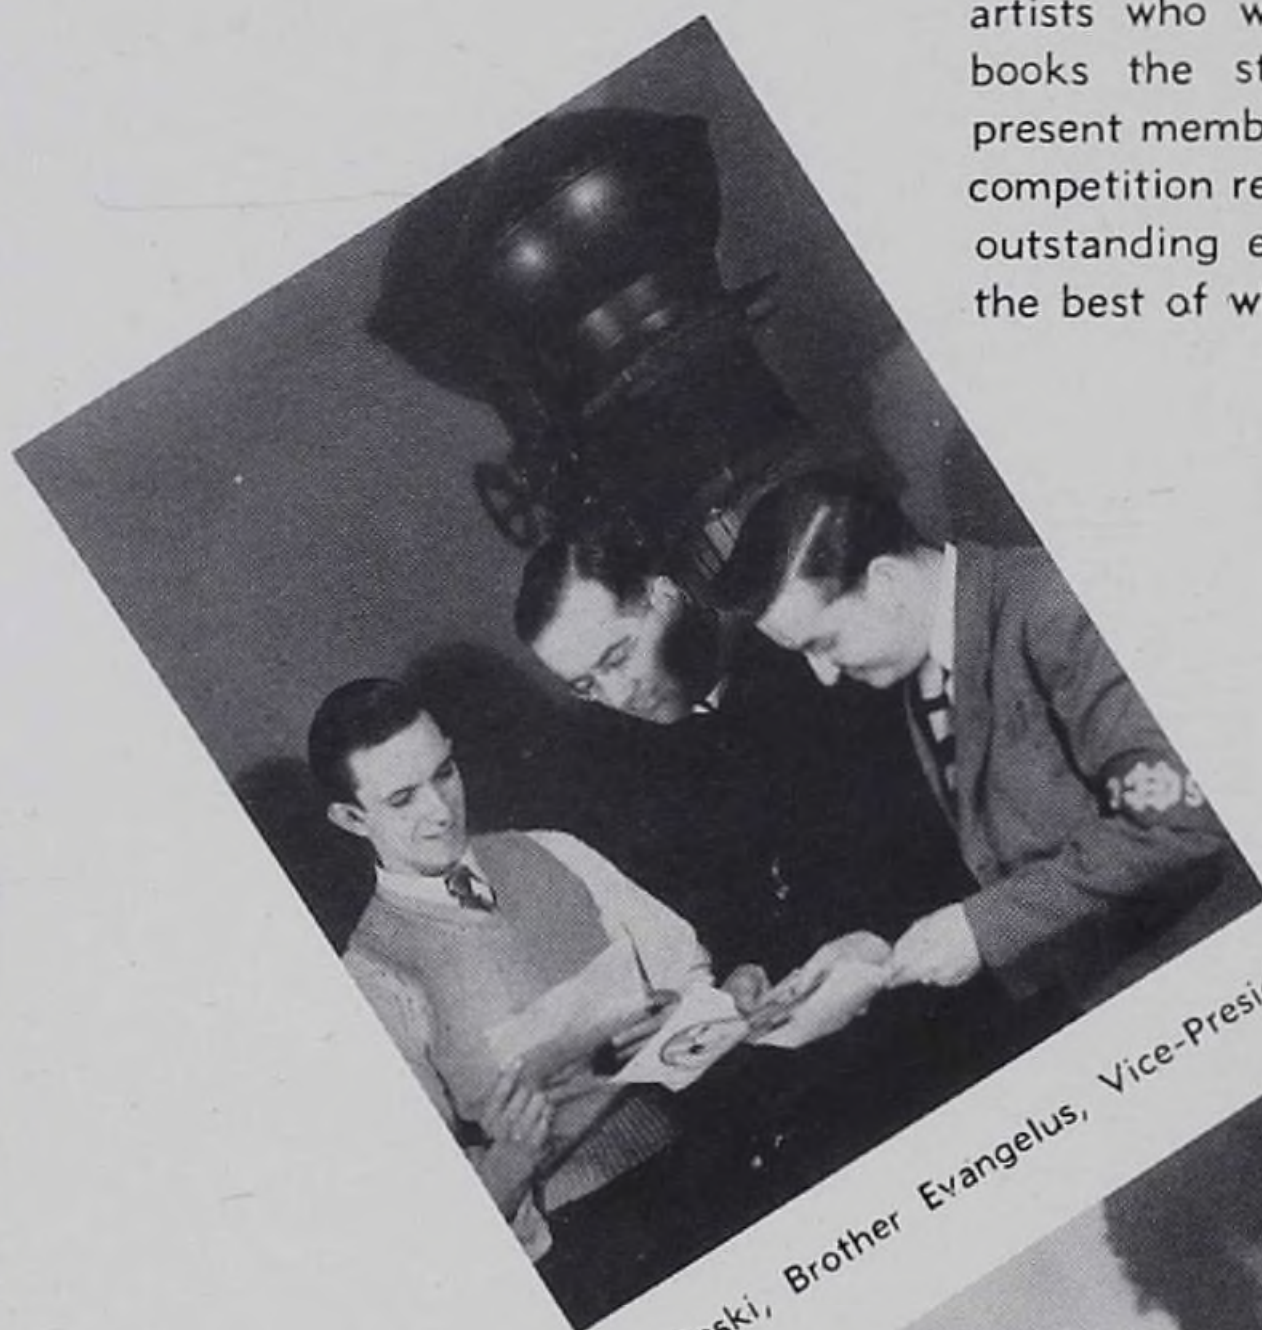

THE Business Club was organized this year by its moderator, Brother Lucius, and has thus far met with astounding success. Our well equipped business room hums with activity from early morning till late at night, producing artistic football programs, exhortations to "Beat the Mount," dance cards, the Alumni News, and its own splendid publication, THE TAB, to mention just a few. Nearly every activity in the school has turned to the Business Club for help at some time this year, and the required assistance has been given readily, cheerfully, and efficiently. The CARDINAL'S CALENDAR hereby acknowledges its debt to Brother Lucius and his boys, especially for the many necessary forms that were supplied by their club.

The officers of the Business Club are: President, John McGourty; Vice-President, Peter Sluka; Secretary, Samuel Flynn; Treasurer, Joseph Fox.

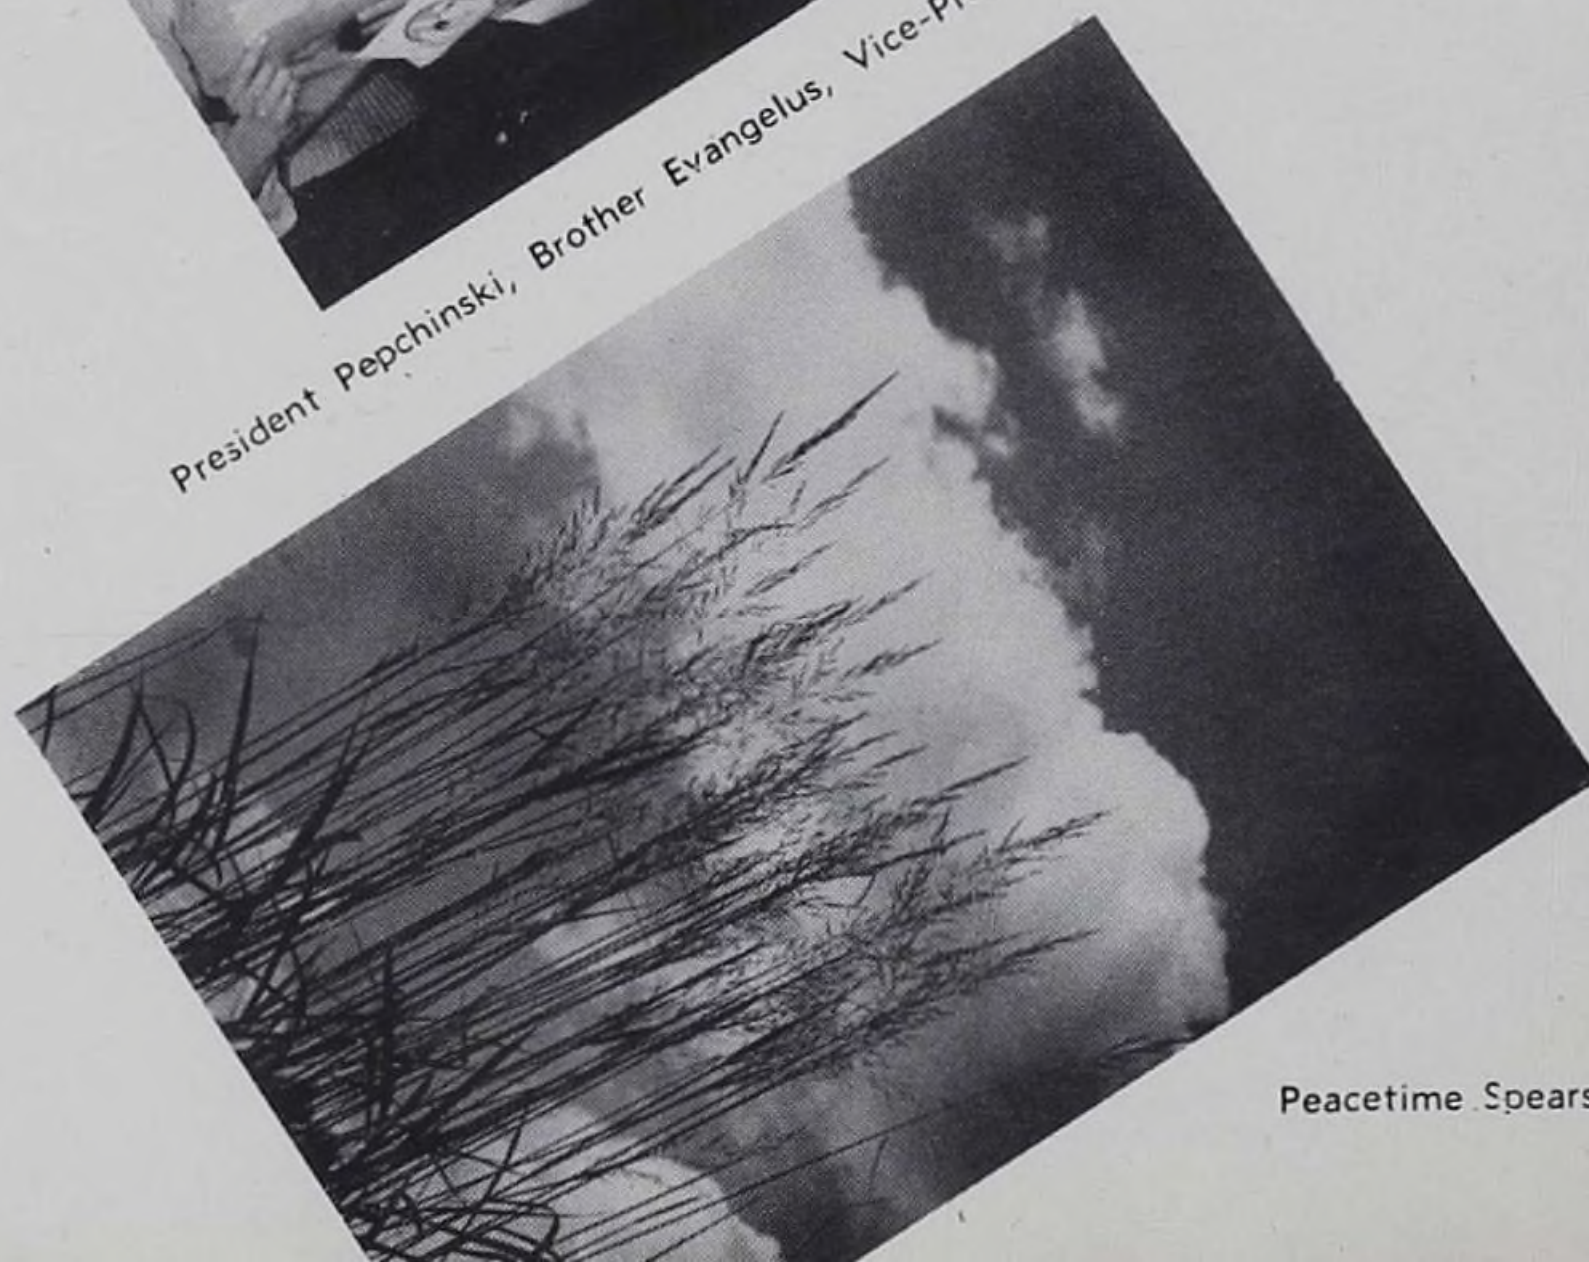

CAMERA

THE more rabid shutterbugs of Hayes gather together every afternoon with Brother Evangelus in the fully equipped dark room, where they advance in knowledge of the mysteries of the photographer's art and develop, we hope, artists who will uphold in future year-books the standards set by past and present members of the Camera Club. A competition recently held resulted in some outstanding examples of excellent work, the best of which we reproduce below.

President Pepchinski, Brother Evangelus, Vice-President Fredella

CHEMISTRY

WITH the addition of Father Green to the faculty came also the introduction of the Chemistry Club, formed and directed by Father Green to give those students who are particularly interested in laboratory work an opportunity to pursue their studies outside of class. The club now boasts of thirty members, most of whom are Seniors. Regular meetings are held, but the boys do not restrict their activity to meetings; the laboratories are kept busy nearly every afternoon. The lack of officers makes this club almost unique among the school's organizations.

That old black magic.

THE CLASSICAL CLUB

THE Classical Club, founded by the Rev. Thomas McCaffrey, who also acts as its moderator, is now in its third year as one of Hayes' more instructive and beneficial activities. Its members are students who take an intense interest in the classics and who wish to delve further into the writings of Caesar, Cicero, Virgil, Homer and the rest than is possible in class. The club is representative of the high scholastic standards of Hayes.

MODEL AIRPLANE

UNDER the direction of Brother Terence, the Model Airplane Club continues quietly to interest a number of students who look past the glamour of flying to the more practical problems of aircraft construction. Some day the lives of a good many pilots and navigators and gunners and bombardiers may depend on the lessons these boys of the Model Airplane Club are now learning, or perhaps some of the newer improvements of peacetime aviation may be traced back to his Hayes group. More horsepower to them!

MUSIC

MUSIC is not in any sense merely an extracurricular activity at Cardinal Hayes; it is an integral part of the program of studies, recognized as such by the University of the State of New York, and the members of the various musical organizations are receiving full scholastic credit for the courses they are taking. But we give the Music Department this particular place in the CAL-NDAR because, in addition to their regular scholastic work, a great many demands are made upon the spirit of its members. Add to this the fact that the many public performances of the different musical groups have brought our school so favorably before the public eye, doing more, perhaps, than any other factor to establish the reputation of Hayes, and it will easily be understood why we let pass no possible opportunity of showing them our appreciation.

And they deserve our appreciation. In the very first year of our existence, at the Catholic School Music Festival, the Symphony Orchestra won for Hayes its first championship. That victory was repeated last year on the same day that the Concert Band, entered in competition for the first time, won the city championship in its division. As we go to press, we await anxiously the results of this year's Festival, at which we expect both organizations to gain permanent possession of the trophies they now hold.

We shall not attempt to chronicle all the achievements of the Music Department this year; it is difficult even to choose the outstanding ones. First let us say that the Orchestra, the Band, the Choral Group, and the Swing Band have given their services generously to every school function that could benefit by the note of distinction they lent. The Band deserves particular credit for the way in which they supported our football and basketball teams. Mediocre squads would have been transformed by such support; ours were far from mediocre. New York will not soon forget the spectacle of the Mount game on Thanksgiving Day, nor that in the Fordham Gym at the C.H.S.A.A. finals, nor that in the Garden for the Jackson game. And through it all, "the Band played on."

There were other splendid performances, too! The usual parades, the many war bond rallies, and, day of days, the Notre Dame-Army game, when Hayes Men in the armed forces all over the world thrilled to the sound of their own band "sending" the lads from South Bend on to victory.

But we cannot go on writing like this forever. And we still have said little or nothing about the Choral Group and the Swing Band—"Social Orchestra"—if you prefer that name. Let us conclude by noting that the annual Soirée Musicale, produced on the nights of May 15, 16, and 17, as well as on the preceding Sunday for the religious of the New York Archdiocese, was a magnificent success. The many prominent visitors, including Archbishop Spellman, Bishop McIntyre, Bishop McCarthy, Monsignor Flannelly, and Father Gannon of Fordham, together with some three thousand friends of Hayes, by their expressions of admiration, adequately repaid the Music Department and all its members for the hours of laborious preparation for the Musicale, the climax of Hayes' musical year.

The Music Department continued this year under the aegis of Father John Ziemak, its guiding genius since the school opened in 1941. Father Ziemak was assisted by Mr. John Mehling, whose death in Holy Week has been regretfully recorded at the end of the faculty section of the CAL-NDAR. At present the choral group is under the direction of Father Llewellyn of the Order of St. Benedict.

Knights of the Blessed Sacrament

KNIGHTS OF THE BLESSED SACRAMENT CATHOLIC STUDENT MISSION CRUSADE

CARDINAL HAYES HIGH SCHOOL is, above all, a Catholic High School. At times this may not be too apparent; there may seem to be too much stress laid on studies, on athletics, on music, on one activity or another. But all that we do is directed primarily towards the development of true Catholic gentlemen, faithful always to God and country.

In addition to the formal religion classes, therefore, Hayes provides its students with innumerable spiritual aids. To mention only a few: Holy Mass is offered daily at a convenient time for those who wish to start their day perfectly; confessors are available every afternoon; there is public Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament every Friday, and on the First Fridays of the year the assembly takes the form of a holy hour before the Blessed Sacrament; appropriate devotions to Our Lady and the saints are attractively presented in their proper season; and the entire student body makes a three day retreat during Holy Week.

For many of these advantages, and for the general religious tone of the school, we are indebted to two societies—the two most important activities at Hayes—namely, the Knights of the Blessed Sacrament, whose moderator is Father Arthur Nugent, assisted by Father John Mulroy and Father Roman Szarama, and the Catholic Students Mission Crusade, directed by Father Peter McKay.

These two activities have had exceptional success during this year. The Knights have faithfully served at all our religious functions in a highly edifying manner; the monthly holy hour, introduced this year, has certainly been the most impressive of the many devotions they have sponsored. The Mission Crusade, as usual, was most active during Lent; we shall not attempt to break down into a statistical statement the Masses, Rosaries, Stations, and other spiritual exercises that comprised their Lenten offering to the missions, but it was one of which the students of Hayes are justly proud. And the practical sacrifices that swelled the class mission jars enabled the Mission Crusade to make an offering of more than $1,850.00 to the missions.

On Friday evening, May 5, the K.B.S. and the C.S.M.C. united to present their first symposium on "The Church in Russia." A very interesting program was offered in the Brady Auditorium to representatives from a large number of Catholic High Schools. After the playing of the National Anthem by Christopher Kiernan and an address of welcome by Francis J. Lyons, interesting talks on the topic for discussion were delivered by Maria Johansen of Cathedral High, Andrew Kenlon of Mount St. Michael's, and John O'Connor of Hayes. The open forum was followed by an entertainment, the music being supplied by the Cardinal Hayes Swing Band. The evening was a pronounced success and augurs well for the future endeavors of these societies.

CIVILIAN AIR PATROL CADETS

These cries may be heard any afternoon in the yard or gymnasium where the C.A.P. Cadets drill under the supervision of Brother Norbert and their own officers. The C.A.P.C. unit is a branch of the Civil Air Patrol's high school educational program, in which students in their junior and senior years may learn the fundamentals of navigation, meteorology, aerodynamics, and military courtesy. The disciplinary training acquired here is beneficial to all, particularly those who intend to enter our country's armed services.

The C.A.P.C. group is similar in form to the old Hayes Air Training Corps, an outgrowth of the original Air Training Corps of America, started here early in 1942. These military organizations were highly honored in the past, and the new unit has carried on the famous Hayes tradition. The Canadian Government again extended to this school an invitation to send a group of cadets to Canada to study pre-flight aeronautics, an invitation which was gratefully accepted. Accordingly, some fifty students, chosen for their interest in flying as well as for their scholastic achievements, entrained for an R.C.A.F. training station early in September. During their stay they received lectures on combat flying, and toured a number of aviation installations in that area.

The cadets have distinguished themselves repeatedly in their reviews and competitions, and have received praise from all sides for their marching ability, demonstrated in numerous parades and drills before the public. A high-ranking officer recently stated that he was astounded at the progress made by the Hayes contingent in its months of existence.

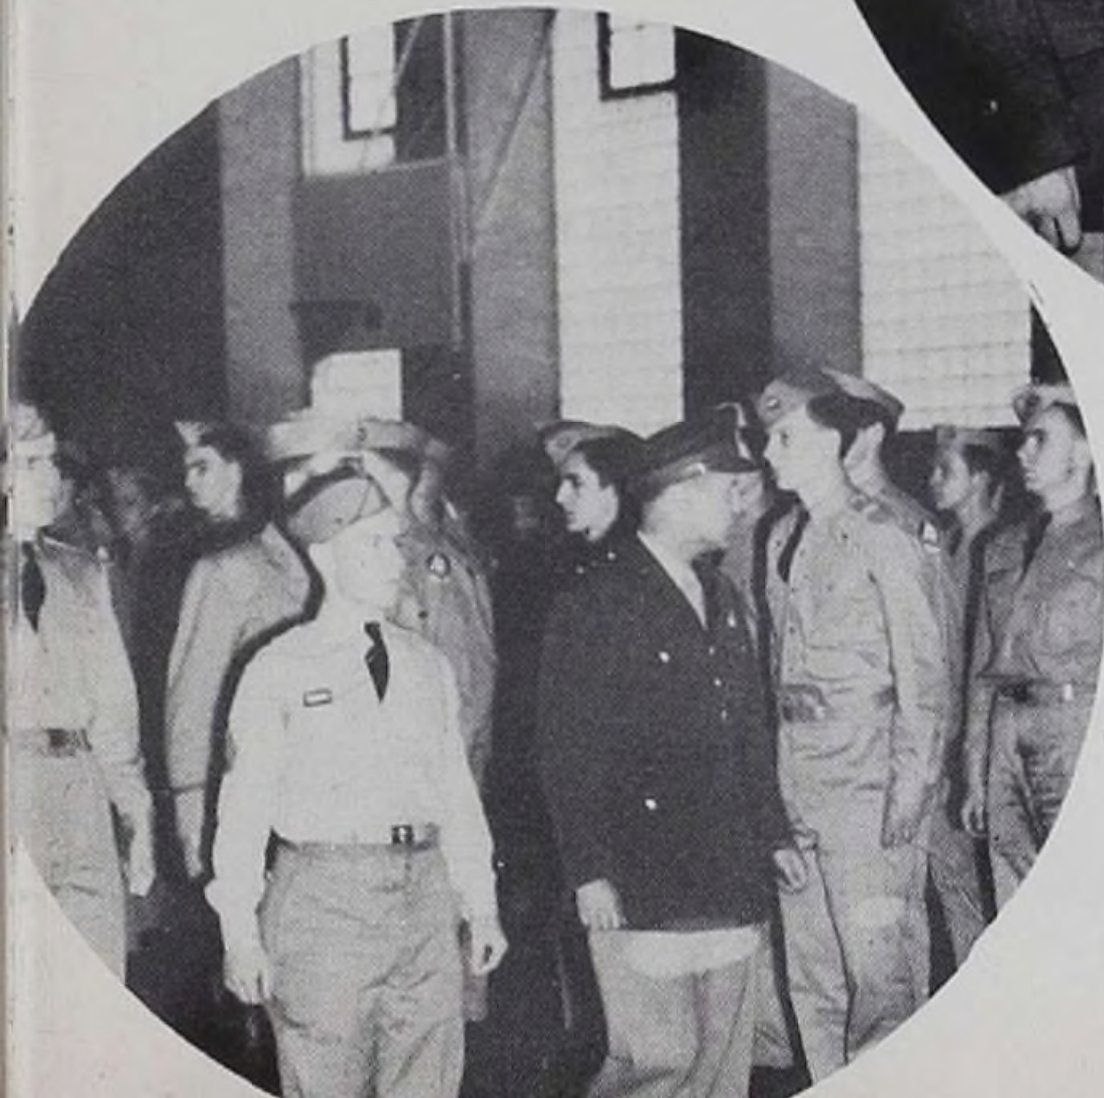

Credit for transforming this large number of green students into a compact, well-drilled marching unit is due entirely to Brother Norbert, without whose untiring efforts the whole venture would have been a failure. A former student of West Point, Brother Norbert has applied his early military training towards building the Hayes organization on a true military basis.

On Tuesday evenings the entire unit assembles at Cardinal Hayes for weekly classes in code, navigation, etc., while each squadron meets individually for mass drill one night a month. Drill classes are held instead of the regular physical training periods each week. In addition, the cadets are required to turn out whenever they are needed for parades or other ceremonies.

Through this C.A.P.C. unit the men of Hayes have been given an opportunity to prepare for their battle against our country's foes, and the discipline to which they submit strengthens them spiritually as well. Through this organization they learn well to serve "God and Country."

In this section, we have decided to let the pictures speak for themselves, without titles. We must, however, express here our sincere gratitude to the Royal Canadian Air Force for their kind permission to use the official pictures taken of our cadets during their stay in Canada.

THE CHALLENGER

AT the beginning of this school year, the Reverend Joseph Dunn, moderator of the Press Club, found himself in something of a dilemma. In its first two years, the Challenger had gained an enviable reputation as an outstanding high school paper, but graduation last June, together with the increasing number of enlistments, had seriously depleted available talent. A staff was formed, however, and, after a few meetings, during which the members were taught some of the fundamentals of journalism, work was begun on the first issue.

Brendan Baldwin, last year's sports editor, was appointed Editor-in-Chief. In addition to the features that had proved themselves in the past, Vincent Kenney introduced "Flight," an interesting column on aviation. John McKeon added considerably to the interest of the paper with his amusing cartoons; another new feature was the verse of Efren Gonzalez, a poet in the bud from first year.

The staff of the Challenger had a good deal to live up to, since it had been awarded a second place in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Convention last year. We are proud to record, however, that they even surpassed last year's record, and gave Hayes one more reason to look upon this as the year of champions.

The convention held on March 24, 1944 was attended by Father Dunn and the following members of the staff: Brendan Baldwin, Christopher Kiernan, Richard Skvarla, William McEvoy, James Carey, Charles Dunn, Frank Morris, and Efren Gonzalez. Conferences were held at Columbia University and the convention concluded with a banquet at the Hotel Astor. We are proud to announce that the Challenger was awarded a first place at the convention, surpassing all other papers in its class, and winning as well a Victory Star in recognition of its major contribution to the war effort.

Now get going!

PATRICIANS

WHEN the curtain rang down on the last performance of "What a Life," the popular farce about a teenage high school student, Hayes had passed another milestone on the road to dramatic perfection. The Patricians, ably assisted by a group of talented girls from St. Barnabas High, presented the comedy on four successive nights, beginning November 30, and following a special performance for the religious of the diocese.

Everyone who saw the play was impressed by the acting, the scenery, and the general management. Once more the guiding genius of the Hayes actors, Father Thomas Dunn, had demonstrated the ability for casting and directing which had accounted for three previous successes.

The school is justly proud of the Patricians, particularly for the fine spirit of cooperation they exemplify. Every production is the result of weeks of reading and rehearsing by the actors, careful planning and labor by the stagehands, constant worry on the part of the business staff. The teamwork achieved by all three assures success to their every undertaking.

Now listen here, Henry.

THE STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

THE spirit shown in the early Fall elections of school officers proved to be the foundation of the enthusiasm and energy displayed by the student government during the entire year.

Immediately after elections the executive branch under the S.A. president started to function. The Student Council, a select group of seniors, who had been on the job since school opened, was taken over by the new Student Manager. The council directs traffic in the corridors, enforces school regulations, and preserves order generally throughout the building.

The student court consists of a Chief Justice and two associate justices. Any student accused of breaking a school regulation is given a chance to defend himself before this court. Punishments are meted out to those convicted with due regard for the seriousness of the offense.

The Students Association is the nucleus of all extra-curricular activities. It gives financial aid to those clubs or societies which are not self-supporting and it meets all expenses incurred by the student body during the year. To be a participant in any school activity, it is required that a student belong to the S.A. Members are given special privileges, including discounts at all school games, a free subscription to the Challenger, and price reductions in numerous stores. There are many who cannot take part in athletics or in as many activities as they would wish, but every student is enabled, through the S.A., to contribute his bit to all extra-curricular activities at Hayes.

DANCE COMMITTEE

A newly formed Senior Dance Committee played host this year to exceptionally large crowds at the various senior social functions. The "Football Dance," Halloween, Thanksgiving, the "Senior Festival"—under the supervision of Father Fitzgerald success followed success, and Hayes gained an enviable reputation in the world of high school entertainment. Particular mention should be made of the novelties introduced at these affairs and the ingenuity and gracefulness of the decorations which adorned the gymnasium. As we go to press, the committee is working hard on their final, and, we hope, their most successful venture, the Senior Prom in May.

There are no officers in the Senior Dance Committee. We append herewith a list of the members who are now bringing their year's work to a pleasant conclusion.

DEBATING

AMONG the more important activities of any high school, debating must always be accorded a high place. At Hayes, the Father Higgins Debating Society has accomplished a great deal in its short existence—sufficient to have gained considerable respect in high school competition.

The national topic for debate this year was, "Resolved: That the United States should join in reconstituting the League of Nations." Trained by their moderator, Father William Burke, and reinforced by hours of research and study in the library and the open discussions at the weekly meetings, our debators engaged teams from Chaminade, La Salle, and Fordham Prep, with varying results. The outstanding contests this year were those with Chaminade, four debates of which each school won two.

Two of our debators achieved considerable distinction in oratorical contests held in New York this year. Walter Lee, of third year, placed second among sixteen contestants in the American Legion Contest with his speech on "What the Constitution Means to Me"; and Frank Tuoti, also of third year, won the right to represent The Bronx in the Journal-American "John Paul Jones, American" National Oratory Contest. The former was awarded a handsome medal; Frank received a fifty dollar war bond for his efforts. We look forward confidently to a future in which the Father Higgins Debating Society will produce many other orators of the same caliber as these, speakers who will bring similar credit to Hayes.

PUBLICATION of the second issue of the CARDINAL'S CALENDAR has involved many unforeseen problems. At the beginning there was some doubt about the supply of paper and photographic material; both were very scarce, and both were very necessary for a successful yearbook. These problems finally were solved, but only by the modification of last year's standards. The thinness of this book gives eloquent testimony to that fact, considering that the number of pages has increased over last year's product by some fifty per cent.

Another difficulty arose from the very large number of seniors to be photographed and interviewed—well over five hundred; it was in trying to handle this task that our most serious errors were made. The awkwardness of the job was not exactly lessened by the departure in February of nearly sixty seniors who were compelled to leave school to satisfy draft regulations.

But we managed, as you see. With Father Harte again supervising the CALENDAR, the various staffs were formed under the leadership of Bill Cregan, Leon Pepchinski, John O'Connor, and Thomas Kilker, and the work got under way. There were a few changes from the previous book's plan, but, for the most part, it was thought advisable to adhere as closely as possible to the general scheme of the first volume. It was necessary, of course, to devote a new section to the Men of Hayes in the armed forces—in doing this we tried to bring out younger artistic talent which, we hope, will develop to the immense improvement of our yearbooks of the future. One very notable improvement was in the amateur photography, especially in the football section, and for this the staff must offer their sincere thanks to Father Burke and Brother Evangelus, who gave generously of their time and talent to advise the regular photographers and to supplement their work.

Here, then, is the CARDINAL'S CALENDAR for 1944. We offer it with humble apologies, uncomfortably conscious of its many mistakes, its unforgivable omissions, its inevitable defects. It can be and will be developed, enriched, and refined by the committees of the future; at present, however, we feel that it represents the best of which we are capable.

O N T H E

The Cardinal Hayes grid representatives in 1943 had the most successful season of their short career. Led by veterans of last year's team, coached by Ward Cuff, the mainstay of the Professional National League Giants, and his assistant, Al Groh, former star athlete of Fordham, the Cards won five consecutive games before they were upset by Iona and trounced by the championship Mount Saint Michael's team.

Outstanding in the group were such stars as quarterback Artie Guy, who masterminded the Cardinals through a victorious season, and George Warren, who held down the pivot position so well that he was named to the All-City first string. Frank Lyons had a very successful season as fullback. George Hoolahan, a junior, who played on last year's varsity, was a sensation in his new role of halfback. Bob Davis, hard running senior, rounded out a well balanced backfield, with Frank Reynolds, the Moran brothers, John Romanides, and other stalwarts ever ready to lend a helping hand.

Besides George Warren, the well tried forward wall comprised Captain Ken McKenna and Steve Andryauskas, both hard hitting tackles, Bob Bland, Joe Post and Charlie McCarthy, a trio of very effective guards. With big Joe Karl, Gerard McDonald, Warren Clark, Frank Caciopoli, McNamara, and McShane available for service on the ends, the Hayes line provided plenty of misery for the teams that tried to score.

Warren, as we have noted, was named All-City Center. George Hoolahan and Captain McKenna were awarded posts on the All-City second team. Honorable mention was made of ends Warren Clark and Gerard McDonald, tackle Steve Andryauskas, and backs Frank Lyons and Artie Guy.

The following are short summaries of every game played this past season. For those easily moved to tears, we suggest skipping the last two accounts.

Hayes vs. All Hallows

To inaugurate the 1943 season the Cards opposed All Hallows on our home grounds, Fordham Field. The Blue-and-White made quite a tussle of it before being subdued 6-0 by a thirty-five yard reverse pass play, Hoolahan to McDonald. All Hallows went undefeated after this game.

The Cards continued their winning ways when they met Brooklyn Prep at Fordham Field, Oct. 16. The game followed closely the pattern of the All Hallows encounter, being fought hard up to the end. Alertness proved to be the deciding factor in favor of Hayes.

Half way through the fourth quarter Charlie McCarthy blocked a Brooklyn kick and fell on it on the Prep ten yard line. Four plays later, Frank Lyons crashed over for the touchdown. McDonald converted to make the final score 7-0.

Hayes vs. Power Memorial

With two victories safely under their belts the Cards traveled to George Washington Field, Oct. 23, to meet one of their greatest rivals, Power Memorial. The Panthers folded up under one of the greatest one-man exhibitions we have yet seen. George Hoolahan, playing his best game of the season, raced thirty and forty yards for touchdowns which put Hayes in the lead 12-0 at the half. On the opening kick-off in the second half, Joe Karl fell on a fumble by Mackin, former Hayesman now with Power. Warren drop-kicked the extra point to give Hayes a 19-point lead. The Card scoring was completed when Hoolahan threw a thirty-five yard pass to Warren Clark, who made a sensational catch. The victory was somewhat marred by a Power touchdown in the fourth quarter—the first score of the year in the opponents' column.

Off on a ten-yard romp through St. Mary's.

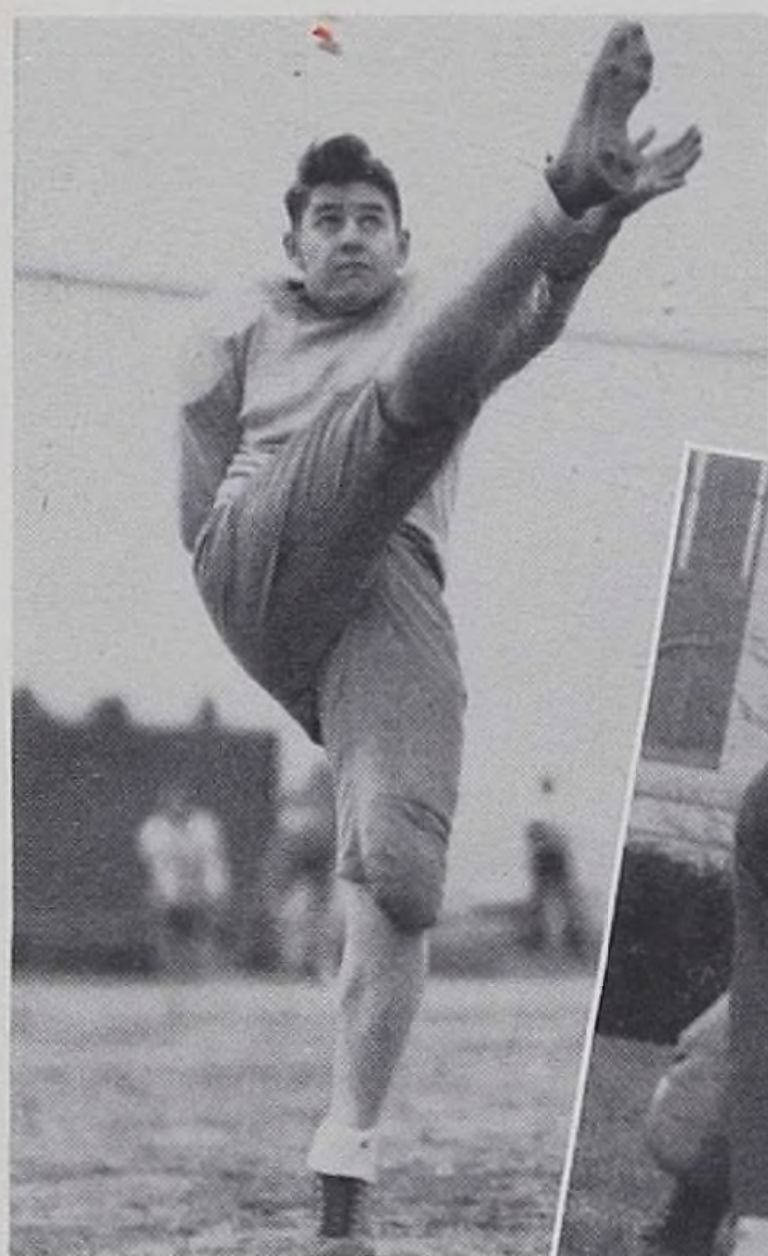

And the band played on.

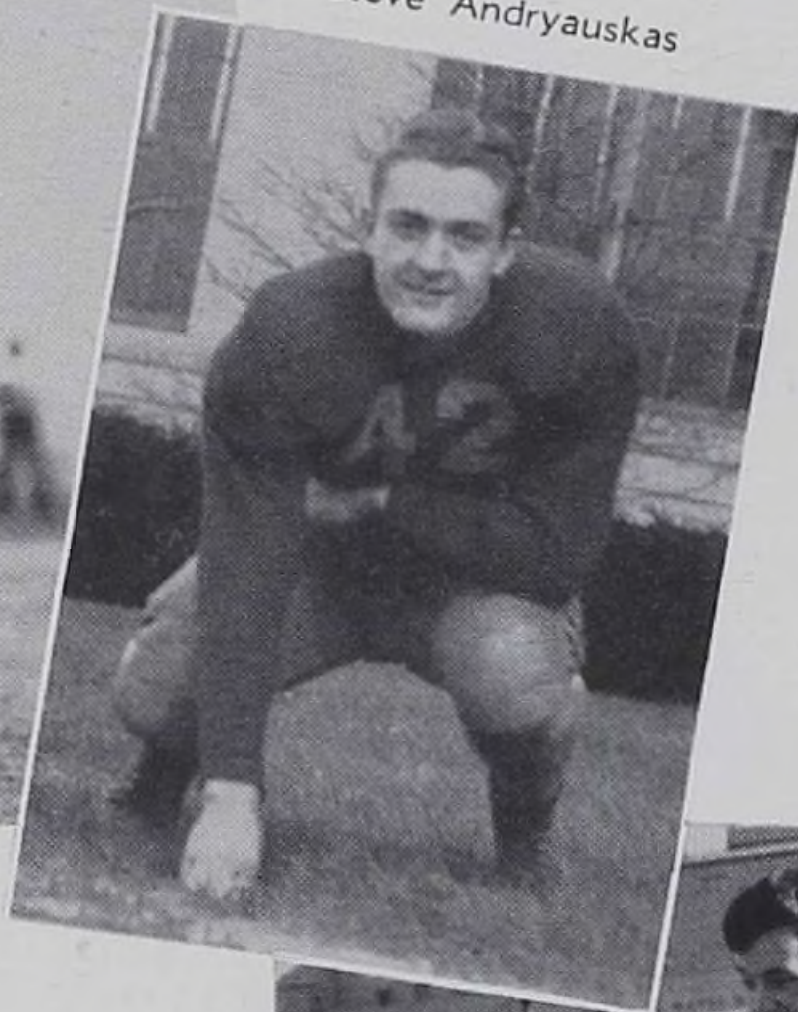

The Cards went across the Hudson River to Rutherford for their fourth straight victory—this one over a scrappy St. Mary's team. The lighter but speedier Jersey club made quite a battle of it before they finally succumbed to the Hayesmen. In fact they waited until there were only two minutes of play remaining. Then, to provide one of the biggest thrills of the season, Frank Reynolds intercepted a St. Mary's pass on the Hayes' fifteen-yard line and raced eighty-five yards to preserve our cherished winning streak. McDonald's conversion made the final score 7-0.

Hayes vs. St. John's Prep.

Hayes' final victory of the season was achieved on touchdowns by Frank Lyons and Artie Guy. Both were made from close up in what was rather an uninteresting contest. Hayes lost another touchdown on a seventy-five yard run from a quarterback sneak by Artie Guy due to an offside penalty.

Hayes vs. Iona Prep.

It was a dismal day and a dismal crowd that saw the pride and joy of Hayes meet defeat in New Rochelle at the hands of an inspired Iona Prep aggregation at New Rochelle. There was no doubt that Iona was the better team on the field that day, even though overconfidence did play a great part in the catastrophe.

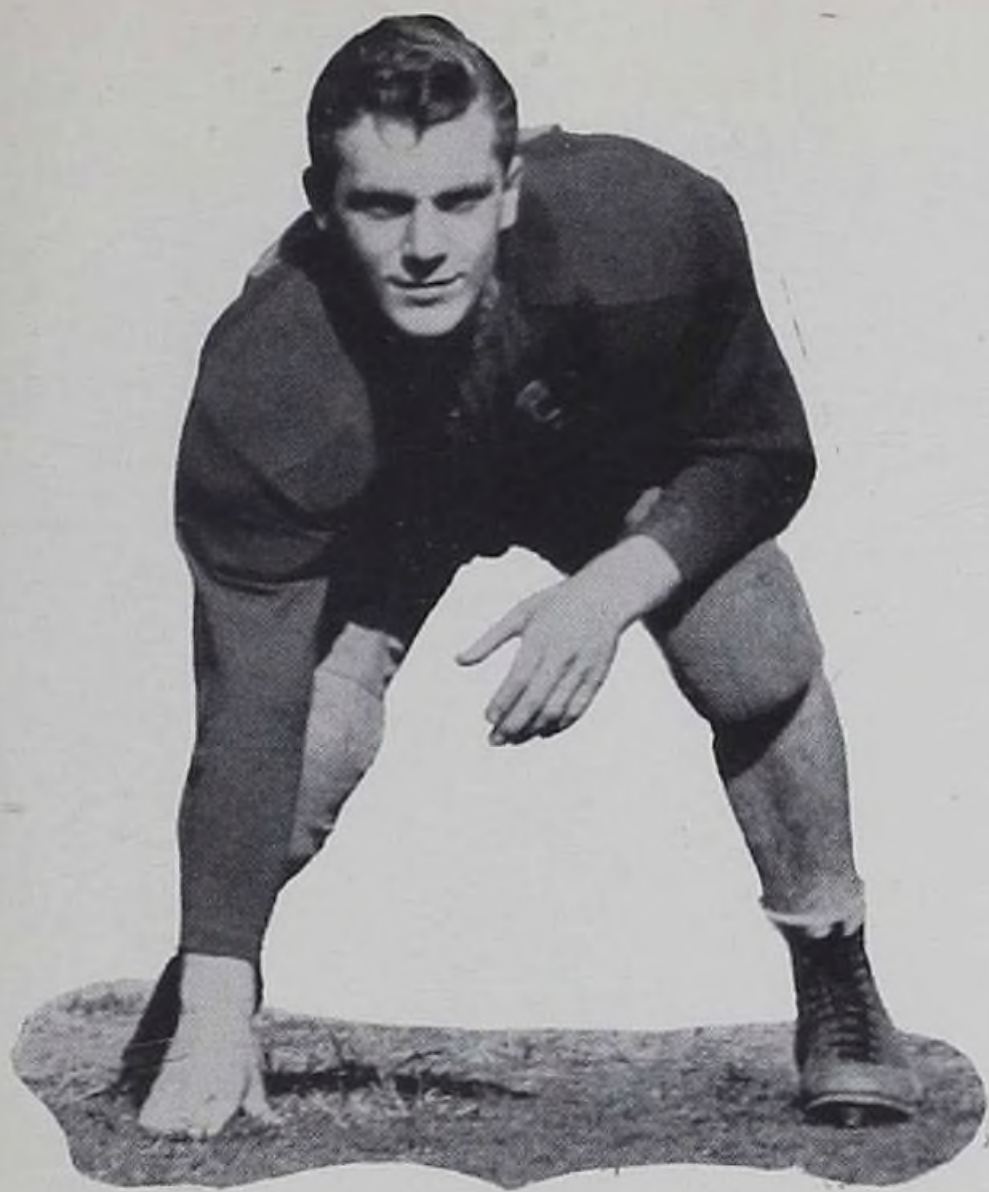

All the damage was done by a screen pass, Capalbo to Smith, late in the second quarter, and a last minute gallop by Wilson from the Hayes' twenty-five yard line.

Before the biggest crowd of the season, 10,000, the Cards were swamped by a powerhouse Mount team 38-7 in the season curtain-ringer played on Thanksgiving Day at the Mount. With such standouts as Kelly, Burke, and O'Connor shining, the Mounties ran rampant. Although Hayes led momentarily in the second quarter, 7-6, due to a touchdown by Lyons and a conversion by Warren, the Mount soon broke loose and led 19-7 at the half. The second half was all the Blue-and-Gold, Burke, Oberlin and Begley scoring to round out the 38-7 rout. The Mounties went on to be the New York City Champs. Well, there's always next year.

BASKETBALL

LAETARE! Gaudete! Alleluia! Blast with the horns! Give out with the drums! They did it! In the second year of league competition, the varsity basketball squad captured the City C.H.S. A.A. championship, they were runners-up in the Eastern Seaboard Championships, and they came within a hairsbreadth of the All City championship as well. A most excellent team! A very nice season, thank you!

Fielding a squad somewhat short in stature but still quite flashy (Guy made the All-City first team, Heck and O'Connell the second, and Joe Barreras the third), Coach Nat Volpe made his last year at Hayes a memorable one. In twenty-four contests, Hayes lost but three games. It cleaned up all opposition in the Catholic High School League without a single loss. And while it lost the first game and therefore the tournament at Newport, it defeated Chaminade and spread the Cardinals' fame throughout the East.

It will be a long while before we shall see the same passing and teamwork exhibited by this team. Outstanding examples of both these qualities were Guy and Joe Barreras. Artie's brilliant masterminding and Joe's flashy passwork made it almost impossible for their opponents to steal the ball, while their teammates took excellent care of the shooting of baskets.

Although Hayes could not boast a team of giants, "Big Ed" Heck and "Meat Hooks O'Connell did a splendid job under the boards. Dermie's pivot shots and follow-ups brought him the honor of being the team's high scorer with 253 points; with one of the prettiest top shots seen in this season, Eddie became runner-up, garnering a total of 222 points. The set shot artist of the '44 five was Brian Murphy.

On defense the Cards' record speaks for itself. For the whole season Hayes' opposition was held to a meager average of 33 points a game. The highest total gained by any opponent was 58 points. Central Catholic of Wheeling accomplished this when they beat us in the Eastern Seaboard tournament. St. Ann's Academy held the league high against Hayes with 46 points in the second meeting of the season.

Assisting this first five was a roster of almost equally talented players. Jim Quigley led the substitutes in scoring, while Frank Lyons was the team's foul shot artist. Among the other members of this notable aggregation were Joe Kane. Kennedy, McLaughlin, Phil Barreras,—better known as Barreras, Jr.—Connolly and Cahill.

Here are a few of the highlights of the season:

The brilliant second half defense which limited Stuyvesant to a goal and two fouls in the second half of an encounter which was Hayes' only defeat of the regular season; Murphy's two set shots in the last minute to beat La Salle in the first game; the Cards freezing the ball for three minutes to beat Power by one point in our first game with them; the second St. Ann's game; the fourth quarter drive which won the City Championship from St. John's Prep; the victories which gave Hayes the runner up prize in the Eastern Seaboard Championships; the Red Cross benefit encounter with Jackson for the undisputed city championship.

Some of the outstanding individual performances were Heck's 21 points in the second Power game; Dermie O'Connell's 48 points in three games at Newport, every player scoring more than 145 points.

Heartiest congratulations to all! To Mr. Volpe, who has since joined the armed forces of his country; to Father Peters, to the team, to the band, to the rooters. All in all, it was quite a ball club—it was some year!

1944 VARSITY BASEBALL

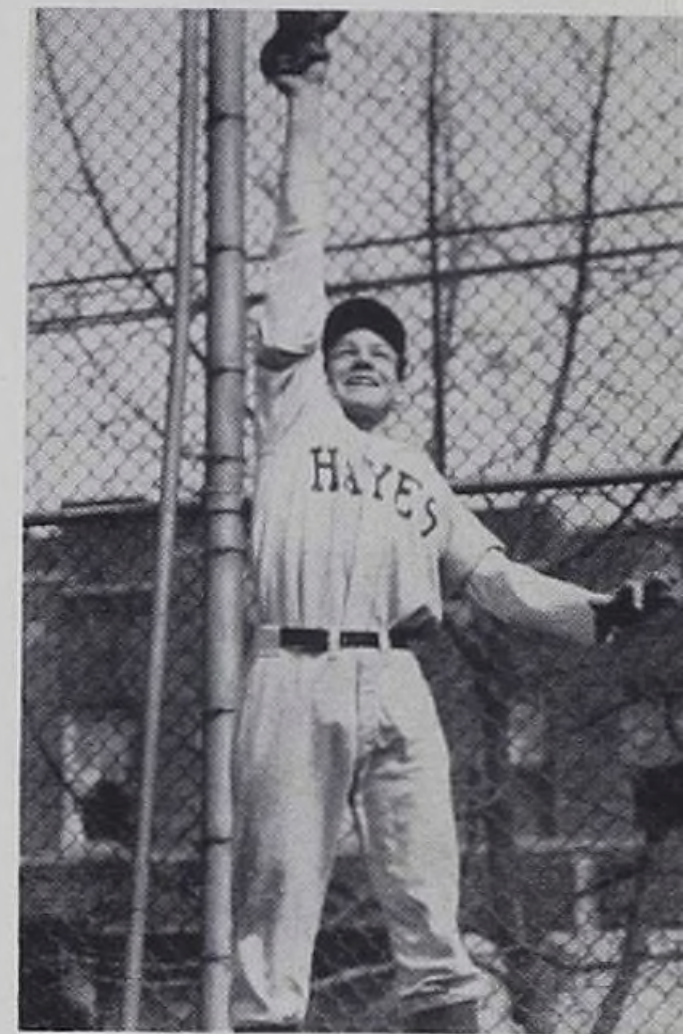

It is unfortunate that the CALENDAR must go to press every year at a time which makes it practically impossible to do justice to our Baseball and Track teams. And yet both of these need and deserve all the support we can give them.

As we go to press this year, the baseball team, playing under unusual handicaps, has chalked up a very creditable record for the season. With nine victories and four defeats, it still has a chance to gain the Catholic High School Athletic League championship. And this despite the loss of Jim Juliano, who promised to be such a brilliant pitcher, but who has suffered from a sore arm all through the season. And even though we have in Mr. Al Groh one of the best of baseball coaches, the lack of a home field does undoubtedly hamper his efforts to produce the championship he is after.

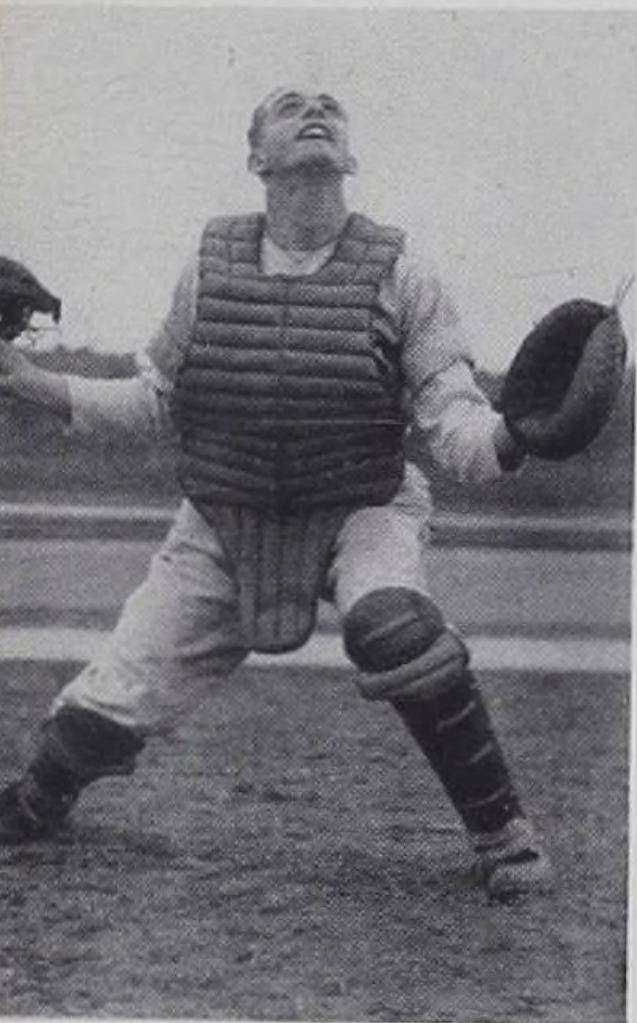

In addition to the excellent coaching of Mr. Groh, special mention should be made of the playing of Captain Frank Lyons at shortstop, George Warren catching, and Tony Rizzetta and Jim Kelly in the outfield. Next year's team will seem much different without Lyons and Warren, and the varsity will likewise suffer by the loss of Ed Heck and Herb Collins, two more sterling players whom graduation will take from us. But the coach can be trusted to come up with others as good or better—so our slogan, as we hopefully await the end of the season, must be, like the Dodgers', "This year . . . or the next!"

TRACK

THE Cardinal Hayes track team, competing in the six major Catholic High School track and field Championships conducted by the Catholic High School Athletic Association, the P.S.A.L. Relays, and two dual meets, completed its most successful season. With a squad of fifty-five boys, the Hayes' team was well represented in all the meets, and, as a result, won 24 medals.

Robert Purcell of Senior year was the outstanding competitor, winning five medals. Bob competed in the 100-yard dash, the running broad jump, and the running high jump, winning medals in all three events. Joseph O'Connor and Donald Badinelli of Freshman year won three medals; they show great promise for the future. Other medalists include Herman Russell and Frank Coffey of Senior year, Terry McShane and John Huneke of Junior year, and James Ryan of Sophomore year. In the P.S.A.L. Relays held at Randall's Island, the Hayes Half-Mile Relay Team, comprising George Hoolahan, Herman Russell, James Ryan, and Donald Badinelli, were awarded medals.

With many of the boys returning in September, the Hayes track team has established a fine nucleus for a strong team next year.

A Note from the Moderator

The production of a yearbook like the CARDINAL'S CALENDAR involves enthusiastic cooperation—not only of the staff and the moderator—but of many of our interested friends who remain in the background and receive little recognition beyond the usual brief mention under a "Thank You" heading. In order to express the warm personal gratitude I feel, I have presumed to add these few closing remarks to the work of the regular staff.

In a school the size of Hayes, the diligent efforts of the busy staff in the collection of pictures and write-ups can well be a source of annoyance and come close to disrupting general good order and harmony, to say nothing of the equanimity of the moderator. Therefore I must first thank Monsignor Furlong and the other members of the administration for bearing with us during what must have been long and trying days. Father Buckley has been especially kind, and with his help we were able to avoid the pitfalls and embarrassing predicaments into which our jeunesse and inexperience might have led us.

The amateur photography in this year's CALENDAR is outstanding. The Photography Staff cannot take all the credit for this, since many of the pictures, especially in the football section, are the result of Father Burke's generous sacrifice of time and effort and his genuine interest in the yearbook. To him, and to Brother Evangelus, whose advice and help were invaluable, we offer our heartfelt thanks.

We are indebted also to Father Thomas Dunn for his counsel to the Art Staff and for the sketch of Hank Briarton; likewise to Mr. Bud Holmes, a young man whose artistic talent is evidenced by the drawings on pages eight to eleven. Monsignor Flannelly, rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral, graciously provided us with the beautiful picture which follows the senior informals, and the New York Professional Football Giants gave us permission to use the picture of Mr. Cuff, coach of the Cardinals' football squad.

Mr. Frank Ball and Mr. Fred Balabio of the New City Printing Company have given us the full benefit of their years of technical experience. Our relations have been a happy blend of business and friendship. I must acknowledge here how pleasant it has been to work with them, for without their effort and cooperation, the CALENDAR could never have been published before Graduation Day.

To these and to all others who have helped us in any way, as well as to you who have given us your support, we tender our sincere gratitude—now, and always.
